Job overview

The National Environmental Protection Agency (National EPA) is seeking an outstanding senior executive to serve as its Chief Finance Officer and lead the Finance Branch.

As the agency's principal financial adviser, the Chief Finance Officer provides strategic leadership of financial management, budgeting, financial operations, charging and cost recovery, procurement and financial governance. The role supports the Chief Executive Officer, Executive Board, Audit and Risk Committee and senior leaders to make informed decisions, manage public resources responsibly and maintain the agency's financial sustainability.

The Chief Finance Officer will lead the continued development of contemporary financial systems, controls and capability appropriate to a newly established Commonwealth entity. The role currently oversees three sections: Financial Management, Charging and Cost Recovery, and Financial Operations.

Who we are

The National EPA is Australia's national environmental regulator. We deliver transparent, timely, and evidence-based environmental regulation.

The agency was established on 1 July 2026, bringing together regulatory functions of Australia's national environmental laws into one independent agency.

Our work:

- regulates development to protect matters of national environmental significance
- strengthens compliance with national environmental laws
- provides clear, predictable regulatory pathways that support environmentally responsible economic activity and good environmental outcomes.

The Corporate Division provides the foundational services, advice and assurance that enable the National EPA to operate effectively and achieve its objectives. Its responsibilities include finance, legal, people and culture, communications, governance, risk and compliance, procurement, property and business support.

Through strategic advice, operational support and effective corporate oversight, the division helps ensure that the agency is accountable, sustainable and equipped to meet the needs of its people, stakeholders and the Australian community.

The Finance Branch provides strategic financial management, budget and policy advice, financial reporting, and operational support to ensure the agency's resources are managed effectively and in accordance with government requirements. The branch currently oversees budget processes, cost recovery arrangements, financial performance and reporting, procurement and contract management advice, travel and credit card administration, financial frameworks and compliance, and property-related support, enabling the agency to deliver its priorities with strong financial governance and accountability.

The job

As Chief Finance Officer, you will provide strategic leadership of the agency's financial management, budgeting, financial operations, charging and cost recovery, procurement and associated financial governance arrangements. You will lead the Finance Branch and work collaboratively across the agency to strengthen financial stewardship, support informed decision-making and embed effective financial management practices.

Reporting to the Chief Operating Officer, you will be a trusted adviser to the Chief Executive Officer, Executive Board, Audit and Risk Committee and senior leadership. You will provide clear, evidence-based advice on financial strategy, resource allocation, organisational investment, financial performance, risk and long-term financial sustainability.

As a member of the agency's senior leadership cohort, you will contribute beyond your immediate professional responsibilities. You will help shape organisational strategy, lead enterprise reform, build organisational capability and foster a collaborative, inclusive and high-performing culture.

You will bring extensive professional expertise, sound executive judgement and the ability to operate effectively in a complex and evolving environment. You will lead the continued development of the agency's financial frameworks, systems and capability while maintaining the integrity of its financial operations and reporting.

One of the immediate challenges in this role will be balancing delivery across significant and concurrent priorities in three workstreams: establishment of the corporate division, embedding and maintaining effective business-as-usual operations, and implementation of environmental law reform initiatives.

As Chief Finance Officer, you will play a key role in ensuring the agency's financial management supports these priorities, while maintaining strong financial stewardship and governance.

You will demonstrate the highest standards of integrity, judgement and accountability when exercising relevant powers and delegations and supporting the proper use and management of public resources. You will operate in accordance with the Public Governance, Performance and Accountability Act 2013, the Public Service Act 1999 and other applicable legislative and policy requirements.

As an Officer under Section 27 of the Work Health and Safety Act 2011, you hold a personal, positive, and non-delegable duty to exercise due diligence. You will champion a culture of safety leadership and proactively integrate both physical and psychological safety frameworks into strategic and operational planning.

Key Responsibilities

As Chief Finance Officer and Branch Head, Finance, you will:

- Provide authoritative, strategic and evidence-based financial advice to the Chief Executive Officer, Executive Board, Audit and Risk Committee and senior leaders.
- Lead the agency's financial strategy, budget development, resource allocation, organisational investment planning, forecasting and financial performance management.
- Maintain oversight of the agency's financial position and sustainability, identify emerging pressures and opportunities, and support timely executive decision-making.
- Lead the preparation, quality and integrity of the agency's financial statements, budget documentation and other internal and external financial reporting.
- Lead the agency's financial contributions to Portfolio Budget Statements, Portfolio Additional Estimates Statements, annual reports and other parliamentary and government reporting.
- Establish and maintain effective systems of financial governance, internal control, assurance and compliance consistent with the Commonwealth Resource Management Framework.
- Lead the design, implementation and ongoing management of the agency's charging and cost recovery arrangements, including financial modelling, pricing, governance, reporting and stakeholder engagement.
- Provide strategic oversight of financial operations, including the general ledger, accounts payable and receivable, taxation, cash management, credit cards and other transactional finance functions.

- Lead the agency's procurement policy, governance, assurance, reporting and capability arrangements, and provide oversight and advice for complex, high-value or high-risk procurement activity.
- Build financial management capability and accountability across the agency through effective business partnering, guidance and advice to senior leaders and budget managers.
- Lead the continuous improvement and modernisation of financial systems, data, processes and controls so they remain efficient, effective and fit for purpose.
- Build and lead a high-performing, inclusive and professional Finance Branch, developing capability, supporting workforce planning and fostering a culture of accountability, collaboration and continuous improvement.
- Establish productive relationships with central agencies, auditors, portfolio partners and other stakeholders, including the Department of Finance, the Australian National Audit Office and the Department of Climate Change, Energy, the Environment and Water.
- Lead the agency's property strategy and associated planning, governance, service delivery and assurance arrangements.
- Contribute as a senior leader to agency-wide strategy, governance, risk management, organisational reform and culture.

What we are looking for

To be successful in this role, you will demonstrate:

- A strong record of shaping organisational strategy, translating priorities into financial and operational plans, and contributing effectively as a member of a senior leadership team.
- Extensive experience leading complex financial management, budgeting, reporting, forecasting, financial operations, internal control and assurance functions, supported by a strong understanding of the Australian Government financial and resource management framework.
- The ability to analyse complex and incomplete information, exercise sound judgement, communicate risk clearly and provide frank, practical and trusted advice to senior executives, governance committees and other decision-makers.
- A demonstrated ability to modernise systems and processes, lead organisational change and build sustainable professional and financial management capability.
- A strong record of leading high-performing, inclusive and multidisciplinary teams, developing others and creating a culture of accountability, collaboration and continuous improvement.
- The ability to establish productive relationships across organisational boundaries and influence effectively with central agencies, auditors, senior stakeholders and service partners.
- A strong commitment to integrity, accountability, stewardship and public service, and the ability to model the APS Values and expected SES leadership behaviours.
- Highly developed communication and interpersonal skills, including the ability to explain complex financial matters clearly, tailor advice to different audiences and communicate with influence.

Qualifications and Experience

Mandatory

- Current Chartered Accountant or Certified Practising Accountant qualification through Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand or CPA Australia, or an equivalent internationally recognised professional accounting qualification.

Highly desirable

- Significant experience operating within the Australian Government budget, financial management and resource management environment.
- Experience leading charging or cost recovery arrangements, financial transformation, or establishing and maturing financial functions in a new or changing organisation.

In addition to demonstrating the capabilities expected at the SES Band 1 level and the behaviours set out in the Secretaries' Charter of Leadership Behaviours, the successful candidate will model the National EPA's leadership expectations.

Act with integrity

Model integrity, transparency and accountability in decision-making. Exercise sound judgement, provide frank and evidence-based advice, and promote the proper use of public resources.

Be part of the solution

Navigate complexity and ambiguity, identify practical solutions and take accountability for delivering outcomes. Anticipate emerging issues and mobilise people and resources to address them.

Collaborate, innovate

Build trusted relationships across organisational boundaries and create the conditions for collaboration, innovation and continuous improvement. Bring stakeholders with you through clear communication and purposeful engagement.

Develop self, develop others

Build organisational capability by developing people, encouraging diverse perspectives, providing constructive feedback and supporting workforce and succession planning. Demonstrate self-awareness and an ongoing commitment to learning.

Eligibility and other requirements

Citizenship - to be eligible for employment with the National EPA you must be an Australian citizen.

Security Clearance - this position requires a NV1 security clearance. Applicants must hold, or be eligible to obtain and maintain, an NV1 security clearance.

Pre-employment checks - the preferred candidate will be required to undergo pre-employment screening. This may include identity and citizenship verification, a Nationally Coordinated Criminal History Check, referee checks, employment history and qualification verification, and other suitability checks relevant to the role.

RecruitAbility

RecruitAbility applies to this vacancy. You will be invited to participate in further assessment activity for the vacancy if you choose to apply under the RecruitAbility scheme; declare you have a disability; and meet the minimum requirements for the job.

For more information see: www.apsc.gov.au/priorities/disability/recruitability.

Reasonable adjustments

Executive Intelligence Group is committed to all prospective applicants and can provide reasonable adjustments during the application and/or the interview process. If you require Executive Intelligence Group to provide reasonable adjustments, please contact our Project Managers: Catherine Jennings or Renee Brassington on 02 6232 2200 for a confidential discussion.

How to apply

The National EPA values the contribution of people with diverse backgrounds, experiences and perspectives. We encourage applications from Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, people with disability, culturally and linguistically diverse people and people with varied career pathways.

We are committed to providing an inclusive and accessible recruitment process. Reasonable adjustments are available at every stage of the process. You can request an adjustment through the online application form or by contacting the recruitment contact officer.

All applications must be submitted through the Executive Intelligence Group website, https://executiveintelligencegroup.com.au/. Detailed instructions on how to submit your application can be found at the end of this document.

Email will be the primary method used to contact you during the recruitment process. Please provide a current and accessible email address and regularly check your junk or spam folders. We recommend using a personal email address where possible.

Your application

Applicants are required to submit:

- a current résumé
- a statement of claims of no more than 700 words
- the contact details of two professional referees.

One referee should generally be your current or most recent supervisor. Referees may be contacted later in the assessment process, and where practicable the panel will discuss this with you beforehand.

Guidance on preparing an APS application is available through the Australian Public Service Commission's Cracking the Code resource.

Statement of claims

Submit a statement of claims of no more than 700 words explaining your interest in the role and demonstrating how your experience and leadership capabilities equip you to perform it.

Your statement should address the requirements under “What we are looking for” and include specific examples of your achievements, the context in which you operated and the outcomes you delivered.

You do not need to address each responsibility or leadership expectation separately. The panel will assess your application as a whole, together with your résumé and information gathered through other assessment activities.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) in recruitment

Use of AI in the recruitment process

The National EPA may use AI tools to support aspects of this process, such as administrative tasks or drafting recruitment materials, such as job descriptions or aspects of assessment activities (e.g. interview questions).

Any use of AI will be consistent with the National EPA’s AI governance framework, monitored and subject to human oversight.

- All recruitment decisions relating to assessment outcomes, engagement and promotion are made by people, not AI systems.
- AI tools are assistive only and will not replace selection panel judgement or merit-based decision-making.
- Your personal information will be handled in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and relevant policies.
- AI tools used will meet government security and data protection requirements and will not use your information to train external models.

We are committed to ensuring recruitment processes remain fair, transparent, merit-based and free from bias, consistent with the APS Employment Principles.

Use of AI by candidates

We understand that artificial intelligence (AI) tools (like ChatGPT or similar tools) can help you prepare a job application. You can use AI tools unless we tell you not to at a specific stage.

However, it’s important that your application reflects your own skills, experience and abilities.

What you can do

You can use AI to help you:

- draft or edit your resume or written responses
- prepare for interviews (for example, practice questions)
- improve clarity or structure in your application

What we expect from you

To make sure the process is fair and based on merit, we expect you to:

Be honest

- Only include information that is true and reflects your own experience and achievements
- Use your own knowledge when answering questions

Be yourself

- Show us your own ideas, skills and understanding of the role
- Be able to explain your application and answers in your own words

Be transparent

- Tell us if you have used AI, if asked
- Be ready to explain how you used it to support your application

Use AI responsibly

- Use AI as a support tool, not a substitute for your own work
- Check that any AI-generated content is accurate and relevant

When you should not use AI

You may be asked not to use AI in certain parts of the process (for example, during interviews or assessments). If this applies, we will let you know.

Why this matters

Recruitment decisions are based on merit. This means we assess your skills, experience and suitability for the role. If AI is used in a way that misrepresents your abilities or gives an unfair advantage, it may affect your application. For more information, see APSC guidance on AI in recruitment.

Assessment

The assessment process may include an executive interview, a presentation or work-based exercise, referee reports and other assessment activities relevant to the requirements of the role.

The panel may seek additional information to validate candidates' qualifications, employment history, demonstrated achievements and suitability for appointment.

If you require reasonable adjustments to participate in the assessment process, indicate this in your application or contact the recruitment contact officer. A member of the recruitment team will discuss suitable arrangements with you before the relevant assessment activity.

An order of merit may be established from this process and used to fill similar vacancies arising within 18 months of the advertisement date.

Closing date

Applications close at 11:30pm (AEDT) Sunday 22 November 2026.
